Eleanor Holm put off U. S. team at Olympics.

IN LOVING MEMORY of the late Senator S. L. Ferguson, who departed this life two years ago:
For you two years of Heaven's joy.
Freed from all grief and pain;
United with the loved and lost.
Never to part again.
Another year of missing you
For us who sorrow here,
Who long to clasp your vanished hand;
To hear your voice so dear.
Virginia loved her loyal son;
Your county mourns for you
As we your wife and children grieve
And feel our loss anew.
Today we look through falling tears,
Beyond our pain and care
To see God's greatness over all;
His love is everywhere.
By his wife and children.

We mourn because during the past year, two of our officers have passed into the beyond--

Walter M. Hancock, charter member when the business organized March, 1910, died September 15, 1935. He was our president at his death.

Samuel W. Sears came as a lad fresh from school in 1911, mastered the business, knew how to make and keep friends; and was president when he died.

Their places can't be filled; but the boys who are left want you to stand by them. We ask you to give them your support.

Scott Sears will help during the summer; and we hope he will decide to stay, as we feel he would prove a worthy successor to "Tad".

Note Decrease In Bootlegging In Appomattox

General Opinion Is That Drinking Not Increased Since Repeal

After questioning many leading citizens here and in the county, the Times Virginian finds that most Appomattox people believe that the repeal of prohibition has not caused an increase in drinking locally.

At the same time, a great decrease in bootlegging is claimed.

As to the drinking practice, many adhere to the view that the secrecy that accompanied drinking in prohibition days is not so prevalent now. In other words it is argued that drinking is more open now, and the ABC era has merely changed the nature of drinking, without adding to the number of drinkers. Many will undertake to show that beer has replaced hard liquor with many, thus lessoning the amount of drunkenness.

One local official readily claimed that stills were few and far between in Appomattox county now as compared with the days of prohibition. Certainly there are fewer liquor cases before local courts and a great decrease in the number of fines collected.

Appomattox county does not have an ABC store and very few places where high powered beer is sold. No high test beer is retailed in the town of Appomattox.

EXPLAIN RESETTLEMENT ADMINISTRATION PROGRAM

Number Two of a Series of articles about the work of the Resettlement Administration.

Question: Is the program of the Resettlement Administration Communistic or Utopian?

Answer: The program of the Resettlement Administration is in no sense of the word communistic. It is an attempt on the part of an agency of the government to offer new opportunities in rural areas. In order to do this Resettlement is advocating a live-at-home program of diversified farming, which encourages the ownership of small family sized farms. If we can make home owners out of our rural population, we have preserved one of the strongest bulwarks of democracy. The Resettlement Administration is encouraging the development of cooperatives among the farming population, but far from being communistic and radical, the co-operative movement is as old as America itself; in fact older. Co-operation was established when the first family worked together to get the household tasks done.

The Resettlement program first of all sees that the families who move from poor land are capable of producing a fair return per acre. The farms are large enough to furnish enough acreage for a profitable full time farm. The families selected are those who are capable of operating a farm of their own. The families are given foorty years in which to pay for their farms and the interest is three per cent. They are provided with well-built homes in order that the maintenance costs will not be great.

Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. W. M. Thompson, with interment in the family cemetery, near Chap. She is survived by her husband, her parents and one brother, Wesley Driskoll. There were many beautiful floral tributes. Her husband's family and others from Norfolk attended the funeral in addition to many friends here.

Showers Help Halt Drought

General showers last night helped to relieve a drought situation in Appomattox county which was rapidly becoming alarming. Due to the extreme dryness of the soil, a great deal of rain is still needed.

Predictions made this week were that Appomattox county would have only about two-thirds a normal leaf crop, and that hay, corn and other crops were also badly cut.

Throughout the dark tobacco belt much the same situation existed, and estimates placed production at 14,000,000 pounds. However, from Georgia came reports of a twenty per cent jump in prices over last year to lend encouragement to the view that all tobacco markets will see fine prices this season.

The Times Virginian is the official newspaper for legal notices in Appomattox county. Keep up with legal news through these columns.

Murphy Named To Vacancy On Town Council

Additional Sidewalks Requested And Extra Light Sought At Meeting

The town council of Appomattox held its regular monthly meeting on Monday night of this week. F. L. Murphy was named to the vacancy created by the recent death of councilman S. W. Sears.

The council decided to seek further cost estimates before reaching a decision on request for additional side-walk paving on the block of the former tobacco warehouse. Since the old warehouse was torn down, three new residences have gone up in this block. A car of gravel was ordered for streets in the old fair grounds site, and street lights arranged for the Baptist church corner.

GREEN MANURE USE IS RECOGNIZED FOR GRANTS

Farmers who plow or disk under specified crops as green manure will qualify in the East central Region for Class II co-soil-building payments under the agricultural conservation program, according to R. B. Hudgins, county agent.

The following rates are provided for turning under any of the specified crops as green manure after the crop has attained at least two month's growth:

For soybeans, velvetbeans, cowpeas, sweetclover, lespedeza, or crotolaria, plowed or disked under between July 1, 1936 and October 31, 1936, the rate is $3.50 per acre.

For crimson clover, Austrian winter peas, or vetch plowed or disked under between March 1, 1936 and June 1, 1936, the rate is $1.50 per acre.

For rye, barley, wheat, Italian rye grass, winter oats or mixtures of these plowed or disked under between March 1, 1936 and June 1, 1936, the rate is $1 per acre.

For Sudan grass, millet, sorghum, or sowed corn plowed or disked under between July 1, 1936, and October 31, 1936, the rate is $1 per acre.

Although the above specified rates have been approved for soil-building practices, there is a soil-building allowance, or top limit for the soil-building payment. This top limit is calculated by multiplying by $1 the number of acres of soil-conserving crops on the farm in 1936, except that if this acreage is less than 10 acres the soil-building allowance is $10. For example, on a farm with 60 acres in soil-conserving crops in 1936, the soil-building allowance would be $60. The farmer would earn part or all of the $60, depending upon the amount to which he would be entitled for plowing or disking under any of the specified crops as green manure, or carrying out other approved soil-building practices on his farm in 1936.

FOOD AND FEED CROP INCREASE ENCOURAGED

Another supplementary provision has been added to the 1936 agricultural conservation program for the East Central region with a view to further relieve local shortages of food and feed crops caused by the drought, R. B. Hudgins, county agent, announces.

This change provides that any farmer participating in the program may grow an acreage of food and feed crops greater than the general soil-depleting base for his farm without a deduction being made from any payment which he would otherwise receive.

A provision of this kind previously was approved in the case of farms on which the county committee finds that drought or other unfavorable weather conditions have reduced the production of food and feed crops. The present change refers to any farm in the East Central region without regard to the effects of drought on the particular farm.

He had spent his lifetime in Appomattox and was a retired farmer. He is survived by one son, James Melvin Worley, of Lynchburg, one brother, R. G.
